Provincial distracted driving law passes legislature
 Some things that will be prohibited while driving:
 Talking on cellphone, texting or flossing your teeth

Chatting on your cellphone or flossing your teeth while driving could cost you $172 under a new distracted driving law passed by the Alberta legislature.

Transportation Minister Luke Ouellette called Bill 16 the "most comprehensive" legislation in Canada.
It restricts the use of hand-held phones and activities such as texting, reading, writing and personal grooming. It does allow the use of hands-free

It does allow the use of hands-free phones.

Radio communication devices such as CB radios are permitted for commercial purposes and search and rescue services.

Drivers may also use hand-held devices to contact emergency services such as calling 911.

"This legislation is a bold approach and goes beyond restricting cellphones and deals with the broader issue of distracted driving," said Ouellette in a news release. "Our message is clear: Keep your

"Our message is clear: Keep your hands on the wheel and your eyes on the road."

"The new law is great because I have been hit twice by someone talking or texting while driving."

JENA GREEN, AN UNDISTRACTED EDMONTON DRIVER

The legislation was sponsored by Art Johnson, Tory member for Calgary-Hays.

"As a former police officer, I have witnessed the terrible consequences of distracted driving and I am glad we are taking action," he said.

There would be no demerit points issued along with the fine. But drivers can face additional charges if they commit other violations such as running a red light or making an improper lane change.

The personal grooming regulation would apply to drivers who are doing things such as putting on makeup, curling their hair, clipping their nails or shaving.

It is expected the legislation will take effect by the middle of 2011.

Going Grey in the city's downtown

○ Churchill Square begins its transformation into Huddle Town

EDMONTON@METRONEWS.CA

The cold has arrived right on time.

And while right now most people in Edmonton might prefer a cup of Earl Grey tea to Lord Earl Grey's cup, that hasn't stopped construction crews from beginning assembly on Huddle Town.

Most of Churchill Square is fenced off while a massive tent is built for this month's festivities.

Huddle Town, the temporary name of Edmonton's downtown square and Edmonton's Hot to Huddle headquarters, will be a family-oriented venue for people of all ages.

"Fans of any stripe are welcome," said Dave Jamieson, the Eskimos' director of communications and marketing.

Other displays to be added include music

On Monday, crews also began work on perhaps the most impressive piece of the downtown exhibit: a 520-foot-long, 80-foot-high zipline that sends riders the length of a foot-ball field across the Square.

The Capital Power Zipline is free to the general public, but donations to the Edmonton Garrison Military Family Resource Centre are encouraged.

Fire at oil facility closes 17th Street

Fire crews responded to a blaze at a Strathcona County petroleum plant shortly after 10 a.m. yester-day morning. The fire oc-curred at the Gibson Edmonton Terminal in a mostly empty crude-oil tank that was undergoing routine maintenance.

The fire was small but it produced considerable smoke, though fire offi-cials confirmed that the smoke posed no hazard to the public in the area.

Premier predicts 'tough year'

"It's going to be a tough year," he added, given that Alberta's resource-based economy is linked primarily to customers in the United States.

A rural Wisconsin man apparently enraged by Bristol Palin's Dancing With The Stars routine blasted his television with a shotgun, leading to an all-night standoff with a SWAT team, investigators say.

New viral sensation captures frustration over security at U.S. airports

The refusal of an American air traveller to go through a body scanner has given rise to an Internet sensation, and has the U.S. government defending the controversial machines.

John Tyner blogged about his refusal to undergo a full-body scan or pat-down at San Diego Interna-tional Airport. When he was singled out for a body scan, Tyner refused, as he was entitled to do provided he instead submitted to a body pat-down by an agent. The security agent told Tyner that he would have to touch his groin area.

"We can do that out here, but if you touch my junk I'm going to have you arrested," Tyner is heard saying on the recording.

Tyner offered to go through a metal detector, but eventually was escorted back to the ticketing area, where he got a refund.

He documented his experience on the Internet, where video of his airport encounter has been viewed hundreds of thousands of times. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housing prices should ring alarm: Expert

○ U.S. economist says Canada's land values and average income do not justify the inflated housing market

One of the first economists to accurately predict America's housing meltdown is warning Canadians they could face something similar if steps are not taken to restrain the sector.

Dean Baker of the Washington-based Centre for Economic and Policy Research says he sees no reason why average home prices in Canada should be about 50 per cent higher than in the United States.

Noting that average incomes in Canada are lower than those in the U.S. and land values are not appreciably higher, the fundamentals don't justify the price premium, Baker said.

"It looks to me like you have some real problems," he said. "There's a lot of

The bailout

- Dean Baker opposed the U.S. government bailout of Wall Street banks on the basis that the only people who stood to lose from their collapse were their shareholders and well-paid CEOs.
- He has ridiculed the U.S. elite for favouring it, asking, "How do you make a D.C. intellectual look less articulate than Sarah Palin being interviewed by Katie Couric? That's easy. You ask them how failure to pass the bailout will give us a Great Depression."

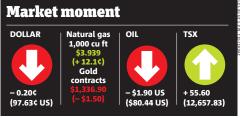

things that look ominous. Debt to income ratios in Canada are close to what they were in the U.S. at the peak of the bubble, so there could be some pretty serious fallout."

Canada could see house prices collapse by 25 to 30 per cent if interest rates rise by about two percentage points, he said.

Baker was recently given the Revere Award along with two others for being the first to sound the alarm on the U.S. housing bubble, five years before it burst.

Canada's hot housing market has been one of the strongest sectors to come out of recession in terms of both volume and prices.

CAN'T WE JUST SKIP THE WHOLE CHARADE?

He says ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE

If I were king for a day, I would abolish the monarchy.

've used that joke for years and I still don't understand why we pay so much attention to a group of inbred photo posers who have all the power of a 20-watt light bulb.

The latest news to have monarchists in a tizzy is, of course, the engagement of Prince "Two sniper shots from the crown" William and Kate. All I really know about them is that she's pretty, while he's the one that started handsome and got British looking, as opposed to his brother, who started British looking and got handsome.

I know monarchists like to rant about the institution's historic importance, but here's a quote from their postengagement interview, which got more media coverage than the moon landing: "When I was trying to impress Kate, I was trying to cook these amazing fancy dinners and what would happen was I would burn something ... so I was quite glad she was there at the time."

That knocking sound you hear is me banging my head off the table repeatedly.

Canadians love to mock Americans for their allegiance to God, but here we are under the monarchy, essentially our spiritual leader — specifically, an awkward family led by an old woman from another country who speaks to God on our behalf.

speak with The Boss while I keep getting forwarded to the regional office

I trust that very few people accept the crown on a religious level, but then the question becomes: Why do we need a monarchy at all?

The monarchy exists so we can: 1.

Pretend they're not real people; and 2. Act shocked when they act like real people. If they do something normal, like grieve at a funeral, we laud them for being just like us. If they do something normal like get a divorce, we rip them for being just like us. Can't we just skip the whole charade? Even on its most frivolous lev-

Even on its most frivolous level, the monarchy is redundant. It was annoying to me in the '90s because it was clearly the Everest of pop culture, famous "because it's there"

But today, who isn't famous for being famous? What reality show contestant doesn't think they speak for the masses? What celebrity doesn't believe they have the wisdom of a god?

And if everyone can be king or queen, why do we need one?

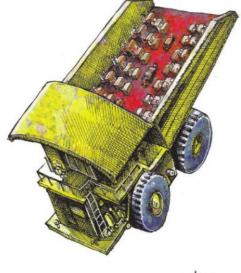

Common sense is dead. Long live the king.

More gloom predicted

Worth mentioning

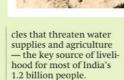

A new report says India could be 2 C warmer than 1970s levels within 20 years — a change that would disrupt rain cycles and wreak havoc on the country's agriculture and freshwater supplies, experts said yesterday.

More flooding, more

More flooding, more drought and a spreading of malaria would occur, as the disease migrates northward into Kashmir and the Himalayas, according to the report by 220 Indian scientists and 120 research institutions.

The temperature rise, which could be even more extreme along the coasts, would cause drastic changes in India's rain cy-

Warming warning

The report comes out just weeks before the Nov. 29 start of the UN climate summit in Cancun, Mexico, where nations will try again to reach a global agreement to limit greenhouse gas emissions thought to contribute to global warming. India's many ecosystems and proximity to the equator make it particularly sensitive to climate change, experts say. The fact most of the country relies on freshwater sources, rather than desalinating sea water, amplifies the threat of global warming on society. THE ASSOCIATED FRESS

From the collieries to the royal court (tip your cap to Prince Charles and his newly engaged son Prince William), the flat cap has been a favorite for generations of men.

How to put your stamp on the camel coat

▶ Just because it's the most inescapable item of the season, doesn't mean you can't make it your own. ▶ Take a cue from this real-life look, by working in unexpected details like bold prints and sheer fabrics.

METRO WORLD NEWS

You were psyched when you first bought your camel coat. Then you started seeing it on one woman after another (and another and another) on the street. You'd choose not to wear it, but you've already spent money on the thing. Now what do you do?

For one, embrace the challenge to flex the part of your personal style that makes you an individual. The woman pictured

The woman pictured here did this through fresh details: polka dots peeking out from under a basic black sweater and a sheer skirt that contrasts the coat's heavy wool.

MORE WAYS TO PERSON-ALIZE YOUR CAMEL COAT

The beauty of the coat? It looks great with anything. The downside? It can read boring. So, punch it up!

NEW BUTTONS

 Swap out the coat's original buttons for something that reveals a little bit more personality such as a vintage-looking style with a metal crest or an oversized resin flower.

EXPERIMENT WITH ADD-ONS

Have fun with add-ons by tying an embellished belt or velvet sash around the waistline. It will make your coat look more unique and help trap in heat on chilly days.

CHANGE THE LINING

Pick out a boldly printed fabric. Take it to your nearest tailor (your neighbourhood dry cleaner should have one) and have the old lining replaced. Show it off by rolling up your coat sleeves or wearing your coat casually unbuttoned.

A very Debbie season

Debbie Travis talks festive decor trends and shares the holiday collection she designed for Canadian Tire

DECOR MOMENT

KARL LOHNES HOME@METRO-NEWS.CA Debbie

Travis is a time four Gemini-winning television host (her current television series All For One airs on CBC), author of nine bestselling books and designs a line of signature homegoods sold exclusively at Canadian Tire.

This year Debbie designed the entire Christon to: Stores; it's of tree mas collection for Canadi-Tire collection of ornaments, wreaths and on-trend for the seasons and priced for every budget.

I had a chance to pick her brain about holiday trends and the collection for this year.

What's the most exciting holiday decor trend this sea-

I think it has to be holiday fun. It's definitely included in the various collections I've designed. Themes include Masquerade Ball, Candy Cane and Winter Forest (there are six themes to the collection).

You'll see lots of nostalgia (think 1950s), stripes, polka dots, glitter and

There will also be a homemade-feel to some of the collections; a trend that we will see sticking around for a few years.

How do you decorate in your own home?

I am usually in Montreal during the holidays and decorate two very different trees

I have what I call a "memory tree" in the liv-ing room that highlights family memories through ornaments collected over

My boys would absolute-ly kill me if they didn't see those familiar ornaments each vear!

I then put up a hip, trendy tree in the dining room. It's a way to stay current with trends and have fun when entertaining.

How will this year's holiday decor differ from next year?

There will be different colour themes but I am hoping that ornaments purchased this year can be built-up and added on next

Collecting memorable ornaments that create memories from year to year is what it is all about.

High-style silliness

It started with figs on a plate stashed under a pool-side table.

The caption under the photo in the home design catalogue urged readers to "enjoy the comfort and ease of indoor entertaining with outdoor sectionals, pillows and accessories."

But Molly Erdman saw something else – a chance to poke fun at something, well ... kinda ridiculous. The actor/comedian sat down at her computer last June and wrote her own caption.

"Sweetheart," it said, "the Turners will be here any minute now! Did you put the plate of figs under the table?"

And with that her blog Catalog Living was born. Erdman didn't necessarily set out to create a daily parody of the sometimes serious, overly put-together nature of photos from high-end home accessory catalogues. One night, though, after she wrote the "fig" caption, she showed it to her boyfriend. He laughed.

Then she wrote more captions and her comedian friends thought those were funny, too. She realized she was on to something — and as her blog entries multiplied, they started getting attention from Facebook fans and people in the design field.

Impress with wrapping

♠ Make your loved ones feel special this holiday season with a beautifully papered present

One of the most special traditions of the holiday season is the giving – and receiving – of gifts. A perfectly wrapped present not only adds to that excitement, but it shows friends and family how important they really are. That is why trend guru Lynn Spence is encouraging all Canadians to wrap their presents this holiday season, rather than using a gift bag.

"People underestimate the value of wrapping gifts," says Spence, a style expert and frequent guest on CityTV's CityLine. "Giving someone a wrapped gift shows them you care, and nothing can replace the ex-

"People underestimate the value of wrapping gifts." hilaration of imagining what's inside, as well as the joy created when the gift is unwrapped and discovered."

"I really believe in making it more personal. After all, you took the time to choose the gift, why not spend a little time making it stand out?" adds Spence.

For example, use an inexpensive reproduction map to cover a gift for the seasoned traveller. Top a gift with a photograph as a way to share a favourite memory or to provide a hint of the gift inside.

"Don't be afraid to use your imagination and be creative," suggests Spence.

And, instead of wrapping gifts alone, why not invite your friends over for a night of cocktails, appetizers and fun while you all wrap your gifts together?

Make It Last

The joy of giving is always in style but before you start wrapping gifts, Lynn offers one final piece of advice.

"Make sure to use a quality tape to ensure your packages stay sealed and look great. This way, you can be sure that no one is peeking into that gorgeous gift before the special day arrives."

New name, same great shawarmas

Pita the Great is now Al Salam Pita Despite new management, expect the same warm Lebanese welcome - and familiar shawarma, kafta and kebobs

LUNCH RUSH

CHRISTOPHER THRALL

FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

I used to treat myself to Pita Great's fresh-baked pita chicken and shawarma when I worked nearby, but I rarely zip down 34th Avenue these days.

Al Salam Pita had hung its sign in the Great's place, but despite new management, the same warm Lebanese welcome greeted me.

The menu was familiar: shawarma, kafta and kebobs — oh my. As was the basket of fresh-baked, puffed pita that accompanied my platter of beef kafta skewers ($14.99).

I mowed through the fresh, oily fattoush salad and sampled a bit of the dark yellow rice... oh, who am I kidding? I devoured the chunks of dark, spiced ground beef on slivers of wood — dipped in hum-mus or yogurt — like it was my last meal.

I sipped a sweet strawberry-guava nectar ($2) after the kebabs were gone, crunching ultra-pickles and bits of cucumber with delight. I was sorely tempted by a small package of baklava but decided I had spoiled myself enough.

Why not spoil yourself,

Al Salam Pita

Oilers drop fifth straight

• Toews scores hat trick, Turco earns shutout for Blackhawks

Jonathan Toews had a hat trick as the Chicago Blackhawks blanked the Edmonton Oilers 5-0 last night.

Patrick Sharp and Bryan
Bickell also scored for the Blackhawks (10-9-2), who won for the first time in three tries against Edmonton this season.

Chicago goalie Marty Turco earned the shutout, having to only stop 18 shots.

The Oilers (4-10-3) have lost five games in a row and have only two wins in their last 15 outings, both against Chicago. Edmonton has been outscored 30-8 in its last five games.

Chicago started the scoring with five and a half minutes to go in the first period.

Brent Seabrook's shot was stopped by Edmonton goalie Nikolai Khabibulin, but Toews was on the doorstep to dig the puck out of his equipment and into the net

Toews got his second of the night on the power play with 46 seconds left in the opening frame, as he banked a shot off the skate of Oiler defender Tom Gilbert to make it 2-0.

The Hawks badly outshot Edmonton 20-4 in the first period.

Chicago kept coming to start the second as Patrick Kane picked up an errant pass from Jim Vandermeer and dished it to Toews, who wristed it home for the natural hat trick just over a minute in.

While shorthanded and with just over a minute left in the second Jake Dowell's breakaway shot rang off the post only to see Kurtis Foster cough it up seconds later to Sharp who deked Khabulin for his 11th of the season

Chicago finished the rout two minutes into the third as Bickell unleashed a cannon past Edmonton goalie Devan Dubnyk, who replace Khabibulin to start the third.

Chicago outshot Edmonton 47-18 in the contest.

Tweeting Tiger is par for course as golfer rebuilds

Tiger Woods in on Twitter, and that's not all.

Newsweek posted an oped piece by Woods yesterday titled, How I've Redefined Victory. He is scheduled to be a guest for two segments today on ES-PN Radio's Mike & Mike in the Morning.

As he approaches the one-year anniversary of a car accident that wrecked his image, these are some of the signs that Woods is entering a rebuilding stage.

"It's a positive step for him," said Mark Steinberg, his agent at IMG. "He's making the effort to do some things different."

Woods has had a Twitter account since June 2009 his sign name, "Tiger Woods," was secured about a year before that — but the only tweets were to announce his Twitter page, Facebook page and a redesign of his website.

Then came a tweet at 11:08 a.m. yesterday: "What's up everyone. Finally decided to try out twitter!"

Woods had just over 90,000 followers until that tweet. Within three hours, he had added over 40,000 more followers, adding them by the thousands each hour. A person confirmed that he was typing the tweet himself, and Woods added this: "Yep, it's me. I think I like this twitter thing. You guys are awe-some. Thanks for all the love."

"Tiger wants to do some things a little differently moving forward," Steinberg said. "He wants to be a little more connected to the fans, and this is just one new addition."

Woods is identified at the bottom of the Newsweek op-ed piece as "founder of the Tiger Woods Foundation, which has helped educate more than 10-million kids.'

He writes about how much his life was out of balance and his priorities were out of order a year ago, when he was caught in numerous extramarital affairs that cost him three major endorsements and eventually led to his divorce from Elin Nordegren.

One less Sutter for Flames

Before being sent to the AHL, Brett Sutter was a depth player for the Flames this season — registering one assist in four games before getting scratched in 12 straight.

Calgary Flames GM Darryl Sutter traded his son Brett to the Carolina Hurricanes one week after Brett was charged with assault outside an Arizona bar.

The 23-year-old forward and defenceman Ian White were shipped to the Hurricanes yesterday in exchange for defenceman Anton Babchuk and winger Tom Kostopoulos.

Brett Sutter issued a public apology after his arrest. He is alleged to have punched a cab driver last week in a drunken altercation following the team's rookie dinner.

The move provides Calgary with a little bit of salary cap relief. Babchuk ($1.4 million US) and are earning less than White, who is on a oneyear contract that pays him $2,999,995.

In Carolina, Sutter will be joining another family member.

Today's horoscope

T Aries March 21-April 20

There is no such thing as chance: everything happens for a reason, and your task today is to reason why you have been denied access to something you desire.

¥ Taurus April 21-May 21 If you compare yourself to other people you will be disappointed as there will always be others who achieve more than you. Compare yourself to who you were yesterday and the day before.

II Gemini May 22-June 21 Be true to yourself and don't cut corners. You can bend the rules if you wish but your conscience will nag at you for not living up to your high ideals and standards

Gancer June 22-July 22 If you are finding a simple task sign that you need a break. You have been pushing yourself rather hard of late

W Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 As a Virgo you know that the simplest solution is usually the right solution and you won't go far wrong if you apply that knowledge to a relationship. Jupiter is moving in your difficult for some reason then maybe you should take it as a

Ω Leo July 23-Aug.23 There is a confidence about you at the moment that is really quite eerie. The gods of change are about to move the world in your favor.

favor again and you must move too - for love.

← Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 What happens today will remind you that it's always a mistake to assume that things will stay the same. If you stay flexible and move with the times you'll benefit in ways you cannot imagine.

M Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Jupiter, planet of good fortune, urges you to put your own interests first today and do only what benefits you. Is that selfish? Maybe. So what!

Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You know that if you go to extremes you will provoke an equally extreme reaction, so why are you toying with the idea of doing something that is sure to annoy a lot of people?

り Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20

You don't take well to criticism and that could lead to problems today as someone is intent on telling you where you've been going wrong.

Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 You may have to lower your sights a little today, especially if you discover that your cash flow situation is not as good as you would like it to be. Have you been living beyond your means?

H Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 You have achieved a lot in recent weeks and you will achieve even more when the Sun crosses the midheaven angle of your chart in a few days time. It's okay to be ambitious. SALLY BROMPTON
